Compared with traditional drying machine, microwave degreasing equipment has obvious advantages in energy saving and environmental protection. Conventional drying usually uses external heat source to dry and ripen beef, consumption of thermal energy. The microwave degreasing machine uses the penetration of the microwave to heat from the inside out. The beef is heated more evenly, and the ripen and drying efficiency is higher. The experiment shows that the energy consumption of microwave degreasing machine can be saved by 1/3~1/2 compared with conventional electric heating drying machine.
